DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 1-14 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species: The various materials defining the compound (1) and the various materials defining the organic solvent. The election of an ultimate species of joining auxiliary agent component comprising a specific compound (1), a specific organic solvent and specific species of any other material present therein, e.g., compound (2), is requested. The species are independent or distinct because as disclosed the different species have mutually exclusive characteristics for each identified species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims, as presently recited, are confusing and indefinite to the point that it is not apparent what is being claimed. Are the claims directed solely to the “joining auxiliary agent for a polyamide” or are they directed to a coated polyamide article comprising said joining auxiliary agent? The structural relationship between the auxiliary agent and the polyamide resin molded article is not apparent.

In claim 1, it is unclear if or how the confusing language “with which a predetermined joining face of a polyamide resin molded article is coated to ensure the joining strength between the predetermined joining face and another polyamide resin when they are joined together” limits the claimed subject matter.

In claim 1, it is unclear as to whether or not the auxiliary agent comprises the compound (1) and the organic solvent.

In claim 1, it is unclear if or how the confusing language “which cleaves a hydrogen bond in the polyamide resin molded article while assisting the dissolution of the polyamide resin” further limits the claimed subject matter.

In claim 1, the language “capable of dissolving the polyamide resin” is indefinite in that it is unclear if or how said limitation limits the claimed subject matter.

In claim 1, it is unclear if or how the joining auxiliary agent, which is apparently used to join the polyamide resin, can contain the polyamide dissolved therein.

In claim 2, it is unclear as to whether the joining auxiliary agent is to contain said additional compound (2).

In claims 9-11, it is unclear as to whether the recited percentages are based on the joining auxiliary agent.

Art Unit: 1796

In claims 9-13, the upper and lower limits of the recited ranges are not clear. For example, in claim 9 do applicants intend "50% or higher and 90% or lower by weight" to read "50% to 90% by weight"?

In claims 12 and 13, it is unclear as to what is meant by a "mutual ratio by weight is 0.01 or higher and 100 or lower"?

Claim 14 is indefinite in that no process steps are recited.

Conclusion

3. The 35 U.S.C. 112 rejection above has been set forth in the interest of advancing the prosecution of the present claims in that the subject matter which applicants regard as their invention is not particularly pointed out and distinctly claimed. A complete action on the merits is being held in abeyance pending applicants' response to the election of species requirement set forth supra.
